

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
20 August, 2008

GROPE HAMILTON LAWYERS LAUNCH NEW BRANDING

Legal firms aren't usually renowned for their "creativity" but boutique commercial law firm Grope Hamilton has broken the mould with the launch of its bright and contemporary new branding.

Led by managing partner Mark Hamilton, the team of 20 lawyers, conveyancers, paralegals and support staff is determined to be the leading boutique commercial law firm in Adelaide and has developed a brand which reflects its progressive, innovative approach.

Mr Hamilton said the firm has been operating in the commercial law field for over 20 years and now was the time to take on a new look while maintaining its commitment to providing the highest level of prompt, personalised and cost effective advice and representation.

"If a client has a commercial or business dispute, we will pro-actively seek a prompt commercial resolution; if that is possible, and in the client's best interests. If not, we will run the client's litigation matter hard, fast and smart. We want to be known for this," Mr Hamilton said.

Grope Hamilton Lawyers specialize in a range of legal services including business transactions, advice and litigation; commercial and residential conveyancing; commercial leasing services; wine law; liquor and gaming transactions; debt collection; company incorporations; building disputes; intellectual property disputes; insolvency litigation services; estate planning and documentation; inheritance and wills disputes; property transactions and disputes; personal injury claims; medical negligence and criminal law.

One of its recent successful high profile projects was winning a liquor and gaming licence dispute in relation to the Planet Hotel against a group of high profile former sportsmen. This matter was a long running dispute, which went all the way to the High Court of Australia. It was capably run by partner Tonia Karagiannis and managing partner Mark Hamilton.

The firm, through Mark Hamilton, also undertook all legal work for the Brompton Redevelopment housing project for Land Management Corporation which has just been released to the public.

Peter Grope, one of the founding partners of the firm, recently completed all of the legal work associated with the development, leasing and sale of the Homemaker Centre in the burgeoning Mile End business precinct.

The firm, through its conveyancing team of Jim Bidstrup and Jeni Branolt, is currently undertaking all of the conveyancing for the 800 block Bluestone land release in Mount Barker for a development syndicate.

The firm also acts for the owner of the Beachhouse recreational facility (formerly known as Magic Mountain) at Glenelg in a building dispute against Boulderstone Hornibrook and a joint venture associated with Urban Construct.

Mr Hamilton said the secret to the firm's success was that it took the time to know and understand every client and every matter in order to achieve the best possible outcome.

"By combining big firm experience with attention to detail, we find effective solutions for our clients," he said.

"We use only a small panel of selected barristers, who have established expertise in their areas of specialty and whom the firm knows well and trusts to deliver the necessary technical knowledge, strategic approach and advocacy of clients' cases.

"Similarly, the firm uses a small panel of expert witnesses, such as accountants for loss reports and building consultants for building disputes, whose capabilities are well established through involvement in past clients' cases."

FURTHER INFORMATION:

Mark Hamilton on (08) 8231 0088 or 0412 842 359

ISSUED BY HUGHES PUBLIC RELATIONS:

Jenny Brinkworth on (08) 8412 4104 or 0419 808 789